

Maximize Year-Round Engagement

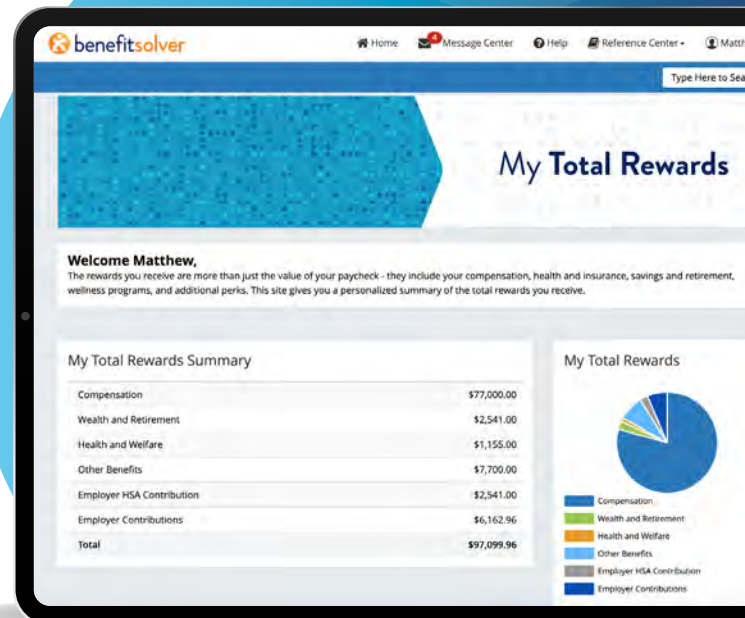

Total Rewards

Over 80% of employees are confused by their benefits, leading many to not appreciate the full value of what's available to them in their total compensation package.

Employees often only look at their salary as their compensation, leading them to miss out on the holistic value of the benefits and programs available to them in your Total Rewards. As you look to attract and retain talent, it's critical to meet employees where they're at to help them realize the value of your Total Rewards Program.

Total Rewards by Businessolver packages your total benefits and compensation offerings in a dynamic, single-platform experience, making it easy for employees to access, view, understand, and maximize their benefits year-round.

Our fully integrated, configurable solution means less HR headaches and better employee engagement with their benefits.

When employees need their benefits, the last thing they should have to do is comb through four websites, a stack of mail, and their inbox. Putting all things benefits into one hub and giving employees tools to maximize the value is paramount to your total rewards success.

Here's what maximizing year-round engagement looks like:

Configurable Personalization

Personalization is a powerful tool to help benefits teams put the spotlight on the right benefits at the right time for the right people. Total Rewards is fully configurable, so you can shape the experience with tools like single-sign-on, benefit spotlights, and deadline reminders--all without costly change fees or long dev times.

Single-Platform Integration

Integrated online total rewards solutions see an average of 7 times more engagement than non-integrated experiences. By creating a more accessible experience for employees, HR teams can better track usage, promote benefits, and streamline their benefits strategy--all with less administrative headaches.

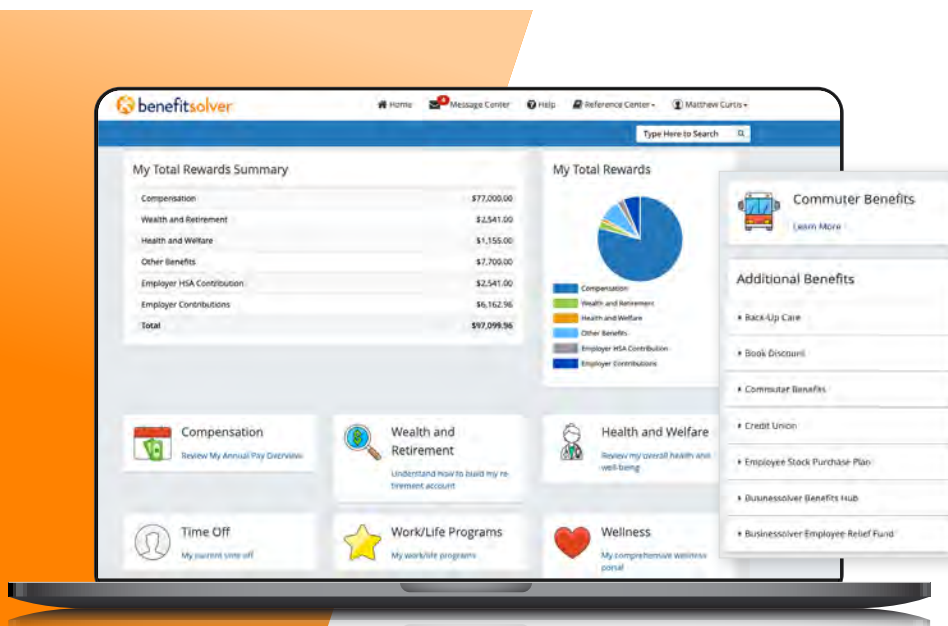

Better Benefits Visibility

Help employees maximize their compensation by showing them what's available to them across the entire spectrum of your Total Rewards program. Members can easily view, access, and manage their benefits right from the homepage for a simpler, more visible experience.

Total Rewards Insights

Use our in-platform, configurable reporting tools to see which benefits employees are engaging with (or what needs more of the spotlight) to help tailor your steerage and engagement strategy. Ditch the vendor and spreadsheet juggling for a streamlined, data-driven Total Rewards management strategy to help employees connect with their benefits.

Get the benefits of a consultative approach without the administrative headache.

We're here to help you maximize the Total Rewards experience across the board.
